Train the Trainer 2018-19

Sinhgad Institute of Business Administration has organized two days FDP "Train the Trainer from 5th and 6th July 2018. In these two days FDP the faculties were trained for case study based teaching method. The purpose of a orientation on case study session was to make the faculty equip with new teaching methods which will help the students to solve the real life business problems.

On day 1 (5th July 2018) Discussion on various issues like what is Harvard case study method? How to conduct a case? How do you identify key issues in a case? How do you write a case study analysis? etc.

On day 2 (6th July 2018), the faculties were given the cases based on their specializations. The faculties were asked to discuss in groups and workout the teaching notes. While the faculties were discussing, the guest interacted with each of the groups, acknowledging and resolving their queries.

The case studies have been chosen to provide examples of topics covered in syllabus according to the subjects. It gave exposure to real-world situations and how to handle that situations while on Job., A case study is a way to learn more about complex situations, and one can evaluate how various people responded in that situation. By conducting a case study evaluation, one can learn more about what has worked well, what has not, and what one might want to change in the future.

In-Person Learning Experience using MS Teams (29th April 2020)

Sinhgad Institute of Business Administration & Computer Application has organized one-day online Faculty Training Program “Train the Trainer” for online Teaching Learning Methods which had impact on both teachers’ as well as students. To make teaching leaning very effective Institute organized the FDP on the theme “In-Person Learning Experience using MS Teams”. Team’s channels offer the same capacity as a traditional classroom where the teacher assigns students to a desk or divides them into small groups, providing a virtual space where students can work together, and teachers can customize resources, activities, and messages for a specific group. In addition, these channels allow teachers to begin the classroom with a greeting or a bell ringer, just as they would in an actual classroom. They can pin an announcement or start a conversation, choosing from design elements such as colors and pictures and specifying who can join a conversation. These interactions are strung together, making it easy for students and teachers to follow. Channels allow students to attach documents from a device or the cloud, write text, use GIFs, and reply in other ways, depending on which features teachers have turned on or off.

In Microsoft Teams, teachers can create “Channels,” considered a virtual classroom or a discussion forum. Using this feature, teachers can create a channel for each class or even divide pupils into groups so they can learn together. Channels also enable teachers to send messages and notifications to all their students simultaneously and inform them when the class is about to start or an announcement like a schedule change.

Conclusion

Train-the-trainer model is a training framework that turns employees into subject matter experts who can then teach other members of your organization. For example, online assignment, test, delivery method is trained on new platform with effective interaction. Once faculty learn how to do this, they can then do content delivery more effectively. In this session faculty learn new skills for better enhancement of teaching learning method.

Train the Trainer 2020-21

Sinhgad Institute of Business Administration & Computer Application has organized Two day's Online Faculty Development Program "Train the trainer" for "Effective teaching learning method through case study" on 15 April 2021 and 16th April 2021. The trainer gave information on taking the lectures on different online platform like google meet, zoom meeting and discussed various cases related to subjects. Faculty interacted with the trainer regarding different real life cases which should be explained to the students with various real life situations of particular industry or company. Trainer also asked the faculty to understand all of the content and also need to be able to deliver it in an engaging way using technology that may not always cooperate. Additionally, because lectures is delivered through a screen the faculty needs to bring an extra measure of enthusiasm and ability to connect virtually.

Explanation of the case study

Using a case-based approach engages students in discussion of specific scenarios that resemble or typically are real-world examples. This method is learner-centered with intense interaction between participants as they build their knowledge and work together as a group to examine the case. The faculties role is that of a facilitator while the students collaboratively analyze and address problems and resolve questions that have no single right answer.

Introductory Session by Dr. Rajeshree Shinde

The session started with a Harvard Business School case study “The Chattanooga Icecream Division”. Sir started the discussion with a quiz and hence randomly asked questions to the faculties regarding the facts of the case and the characters involved in the case study. Sir emphasized on how to analyse the background of the case.

Thereafter, Prof. Govind Apte Sir discussed the characters involved in the case study. Sir elaborated on their nature and positions in order to understand the dynamics of the people. With the help of diagrams and charts Sir explained the sales and profits of the firm, also focused on the market trends of that particular industry and discussed what impact does brands have on people.

Sir then highlighted on the problem questions of the case and discussed in detail about the problem areas such as low margin levels, lack of variety, resistance to change, basic flavours, shifting blame tendency of the people and so on.

Prof. Govind Apte Sir also discussed with everyone about the various angles of the case and how it can be connected with all the different specializations such as Marketing, Human Resource and Operations. Overall the session was very interactive and everyone got a better understanding on how to deal with case studies in class.

In the second half, Sir started with “The Atlantic Computer: A Bundle of Pricing Options” case study. Govind Sir highlighted on how to identify the width and depth of the market and the difference between growth market and mature market with this case study.

Prof. Govind Apte Sir continued with the similar pattern where he first asked everyone questions regarding the facts of the case and discussed the characters of the case study in detail. Later, sir explained the concept of segmentation to everyone with the help of the case and also mentioned how one can apply segmentation concept into the market.

Sir also addressed various queries related to cloud computing, customer intimacy, cost plus pricing, direct cost, variable cost, allocated cost and so on, the explanation that Sir gave helped everyone to develop more understanding about these terms with relatable examples.

Post that a general management case Birch Paper Company was discussed in the session. With reference to this case, Sir explained what an integrated company is and why integration is required. Govind Sir also mentioned the difference between cost centre and profit centre.

Sir used white board to solve problems given in the case and also explained to all the faculty members how similar types of cases can be handled in a more effective way in the class.

The session on Case Study Teaching Methodology was quite helpful for all the faculty members as it gave a better understanding on how case studies can be used as a tool for analysis and discussion and also to show how an application of a theory or concept can be related with real life situations.

 Dr. Daniel Penkar

Date: 8th April 2022 Time: 10:00 AM to 5:00 PM

Venue: CTC, Sinhgad Technical Education Society, Lonavala

Director: Dr. Anil Nagtilak

Event Attendees: 137

The session started with the introduction of the first speaker of the day Dr. Sharad Joshi by Prof. Rajeshwari Shinde. The session was about Surviving the Post Covid New Normal pertaining to the education industry.

Lonavla, Maharashtra, India
PCJJ+MJW, Kusgaon, Lonavla, Maharashtra 410401, India
Lat 18.731813°
Long 73.43161°

The session was broadly distributed in about three segments. First segment was about different trends that are being introduced post-covid, how it is important to be technically sound to adjust according to the new normal and different measures as a professor we have to consider to make it work in the post-covid scenario. He mentioned changes that were prevalent after the post covid scenario in the education industry also explaining that how delivery of education also needs to be adapted according to the changing times.

In the second segment he discussed “Making of a Good Researcher”. In this he mentioned the qualities of a researcher, why it is important and how it can be amplified. He specifically stressed on the point that it is not merely a Ph.D work but a lifelong process that helps to develop your mind and knowledge. Sir also reviewed the importance of upgrading skills and the skills that are necessary for a researcher to adapt according to the time.

Third was about the Characteristics of a Good Teacher. He explained it through the journey of becoming an Assistant professor to associate professor to Professor and necessary changes that are important for each upcoming stage and how it can be a fun filled process if each faculty takes it seriously and upgrades themselves accordingly.

The resource person for the day was Dr. Daniel Penkar sir. His topic for discussion was What is it like to work in a Management Institute? His session was more on the interactive side, revolving around different questions that are faced by each and every faculty in day-to-day life. That session progressed in a step-by-step manner distributed in about 25 situation based questions kept for the discussion.

Questions like What are the important 9P's in Teaching/Training?, Phrases Quotes, Important Statements or words of wisdom are they important? Why are certain activities/exercises important in Teaching? were discussed with faculty members. Faculties actively participated and discussed their side of the situation. Sir also elaborated on the importance of case studies, why they are important and how helpful they can be for students as well as teachers.

Another aspect discussed was the value of feedback for a teacher. He highlighted that feedback has the power to shape the career of a particular teacher in a much better way, specifically negative feedback. So, it is highly important for a teacher to always consider the feedback as a further tool for development. As it is the key for becoming a good teacher.

Few other points that became the highlight of the session were the positive and negative vicious circle and how it can change our lecture delivery in the classroom, the prominence of transformation of a student rather than merely passing and the most effective combination a teacher should use while teaching.

Overall this Faculty Development Program was a great experience for all the faculty members. The program was packed with a lot of learning experiences and gave a better outlook according to the changing times.
